

Who can receive Friendly Visitor services?

Any person living within the Johnson City city limits and who has been determined by a doctor or other qualified caregiver to be temporarily or permanently homebound may sign up to receive Friendly Visitor services.

Patrons must fill out an application and sign a service agreement stating that they understand Friendly Visitor Program procedures. Patrons should also fill out a reading preference form to help library staff choose materials the patron will be interested in borrowing.

Patrons should also make sure to share with their Friendly Visitor and the library staff any particular interests or informational needs they have so that the Friendly Visitor Program can best serve their needs.

Sign up to get a Friendly Visit!

If you are a homebound citizen and are interested in having library services delivered to your home by a Johnson City Public Library Friendly Visitor, please fill out the application on the inside of this brochure and call the library to get started!

JCPL Friendly Visitor Program

About the program

The Johnson City Public Library's Friendly Visitor Program is designed to bring library services to citizens of Johnson City who cannot reach the library due to a disability.

Anyone living in the Johnson City area who is determined homebound for any amount of time by their doctor or qualified caregiver is eligible to receive Friendly Visitor services.

Volunteers deliver books and other library materials to homebound citizens, and may stay for a visit.

The JCPL Friendly Visitor Program serves as a vital link between homebound citizens, their library, and their community. The Johnson City Public Library staff and volunteers work together to deliver the library services and community information homebound patrons need to stay connected.
